

A gender in denial

Questioned whether climate change is to a large extent caused by human actions, only 70% of Norwegian adults answer 'yes'. Men are more likely to be in denial than women, and the overall trend is quite stable, but the % of men in denial is slightly decreasing.

Mean % in denial last 10 years

