

Food for thought

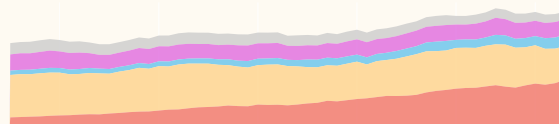

Meat consumption per capita rose steadily from 1965 to 2021, largely driven by increased consumption of poultry which now has overtaken pigmeat as the most consumed meat worldwide. There are large regional variations in meat consumption per capita and meat type preferences.

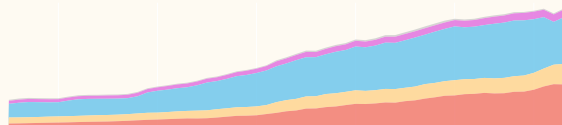

World

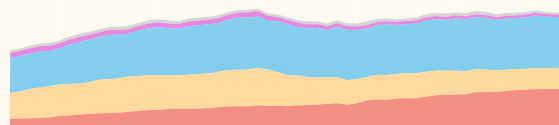

Africa

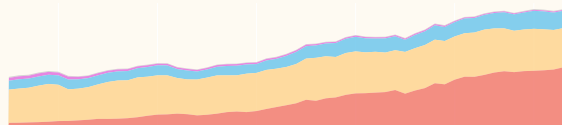

Asia

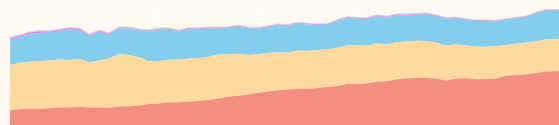

Europe

S.America

N.America

1965 1975 1985 1995 2005 2015 2021 1965 1975 1985 1995 2005 2015 2021

Data source: Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (2023)